

SAMPLE BALLOTS

March 5, 2024 Primary

In the primary election, voters will select nominees for a political party to move on to the November 5 general election. In primaries, voters affiliated with a political party will be given a ballot of candidates for their party. For example, a registered Republican may only vote in the Republican party primary. The Republican primary ballot will have Republican candidates running against fellow Republicans. Unaffiliated voters may choose the ballot of any party that has a primary.

Do your homework! Don't wait until you are in the voting booth to make your decisions. Familiarize yourself with the contests and candidates on the ballot. Read your sample ballot carefully, make your selections in advance, and take it to the polling place to use as a guide – the voting process will be easier as a result.
